It was great news to hear indeed. Hopefully the State of Arizona will dismiss without prejudice their lawsuit vs. the IBWC so we can all work collaboratively together.

I am sure you heard, but we had a good meeting last week with Nogales agreeing to not object to moving forward with funding of the first phase.

Team, we conferred with the leadership and counsel at the NADBank to assess their capability to receive and disburse private/foundation money. Below is a short summary of their capabilities:

- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->The NADBank can enter into fiscal agreements with most any entity, including foundations, non-profits, private, local, state, federal, and foreign.
- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->The Bank can also set up a fiscal instrument, such as a trust, to receive funding from any of the above entities and disburse funds to designated beneficiaries, as stipulated per match provisions.

- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->Should the parties need assistance with construction management, the Bank can also serve as the general construction manager and work with all parties, as appropriate.

We didn't discuss cost for services, but it's fair to say that the Bank's services would come at a cost.
